

Gonna Take A Lie

The Connells

fever in a blistser out, you know it will simmer until its cold even in a fleeting range the suffering fills us full are you going to win me around again play that sound like you always do
its going to take a lie nothing else will do
as if it really matters
this time

I want to see your face when its all through why not think of this as pure intention why not think of this as pulling through will you ever win me round again
play that sound like you always do

I want to see your face when its all through Your never going to bring me round again play that sound like you always do

I don't want to see your face when its all through
this time
I want to see your face
