I'd Still Want To Serve Him Today

Connie Smith

If there were no hope beyond awfully shadows and all things ete rnal disappeared

If God should ordain that heaven must vanish and there'd be no mansions up there

If Christ should never appear in the clouds to catch his childr en away

If each holy promise were canceled on I'd still want to serve h im today

For I was nothing when Jesus touched me heartache and sorrow fi ll this house of clay

But He gave me joy that the world can't destroy

Gave meaning to my life that had fallen away

So if I looked forward and saw no reward no hope beyond death a nd the grave

He's already given my soul enough heaven that I'd still want to serve him today

He's already given my soul enough heaven I'm still gonna serve him today
