I Never Once Stopped Loving You

Connie Smith

The nights were dark and long I spent a million all alone But I never once stopped loving you My world was cold and still My dreams lay unfulfilled But I never once stopped loving you

I never once stopped believing we'd love again The way we used to do And today when you came back my patience was rewarded For I never once stopped loving you

I could have loved another But I chose the way and suffered For I never once stopped loving you And I prayed to God to guide you Till I could be beside you And I never once stopped loving you

I never once stopped believing we'd love again The way we used to do And today when you came back my patience was rewarded For I never once stopped loving you
