

This Is Mine

Converge

And the clouds they break above our best intentions,
The rain it pours upon our last kiss,
Somewhere between the stinging sheets of city rain,
And the thunderclap,
We see who we are.

And this is all I have,
This is all we are,
The ground shakes with your every smile,
And hearts are crushed in an instant.

The rain it pours upon our last kiss,
Somewhere between the stinging sheets of city rain,
And the thunderclap,
We see who we are.

Three years then four days,
And one sentence later,
I rise from ruin,
This is all I have,
This is mine,
Today, I rise from ruin.