

I'm for Awhile

Conway Twitty

I don't want our love to be like a song,
Just long enough to hang a memory on.
I want tomorrow's sunrise to be,
For us the dawn of history.
I'm not a one night rider,
Bed and breakfast ain't my style.
I'm for awhile.

Here today, here tomorrow.
Here when the babies are grown,
Believe you me, in the 21st century,
You'll still have me for your own.
Trying to make you smile,
I'm for awhile.

I guess you could say
I'm coming on to you,
But it's a long term proposition.
I'm here to love you
And love should be forever,
Please understand my position.
I'm not much like the lone ranger,
Disappearing ain't my style.
I'm for awhile.

Here today, here tomorrow.
Here when the babies are grown,
Believe you me,
In the 21st century,
You'll still have me for your own,
Trying to make you smile
I'm for awhile.

I don't want our love to be like a song,
Just long enough to hang a memory on...
