

I Never Once Stopped Loving You

Conway Twitty

The nights were dark and long, I spent a million all alone
But I never once stopped loving you
My world was cold and still my dreams lay unfulfilled
But I never once stopped loving you

I never once stopped believing
We'd love again the way we used to do
And today when you came back, my patience was rewarded
For I never once stopped loving you

I could have loved another but I chose to wait and suffer
For I never once stopped loving you
And I prayed to God to guide you 'till I could be beside you
And I never once stopped loving you

I never once stopped believing
We'd love again the way we used to do
And today when you came back, my patience was rewarded
For I never once stopped loving you
