Hey You

Cool For August

There is blood on the ground, washed away by the rain There is no solution, there's no one to blame They all have a vengeance, in a masquerade All they have are reasons, why you should be the same We don't need the answers, we don't look the same What I give tomorrow, don't mean shit today Hey you Don't look so bad at all Hey you Don't look so bad at all Two twins on the sofa, one pays the rent The other just has a credit card, the money's spent We don't need the answers, we don't look the same What I give tomorrow, don't mean shit today Hey you Don't look so bad at all Hey you Don't look so bad at all