Sideways

Cool Hand Luke

Last night my shadow ran from me It bowed its head in shame I can't bear my reflection I can't even write my name Sometimes i choose to forget about you Sometimes i choose to ignore the truth Just like the man from chapter three I tried to hide From fleeing, familiar White light Sometimes i choose to forget about you Sometimes i choose to ignore the truth How sweet the name How sweet the face That i long to touch with dirty hands I'm seeing sideways Because i've fallen down again And it's so hard to find my way