After the Fall

Course Of Nature

I am not afraid of you Look at me you'll see it's true You are broken falling down And now you're nothing, nothing

This time I want it too much I just needed time to dust myself off I can see much further than you Enough to keep on trying After the fall

I've wated time and energy On your foolish pride you see You will find in time from me That you are nothing, nothing