

Sea Song

Craig Armstrong

The time has come
For me to leave this place
The light, the sound of the cars
Have made me broken
If you could change your mind
If you could change your mind
Going back to the sea
Your skin and the sky light
Are fading to the distance
The soul of the light I must have
Echoes through the building
If you would call my name
If you would call my name
Going back to the sea
If you would change your mind
If you would change your mind
I'm going back to the sea