Lilies

Warm days fill my head Like beautiful lilies And the sun casts a shadow on the clouds And I'm dreaming... Something to hold Something to feel Someone to love Someone to need... On down the dusty path Goodbye! Goodbye! I'll miss you! And the sky puts on his grey cloak And the day blows fear into all the lonely souls As they wander lost along the way Asking... Where am I? Where am I? And oh - those rainbows are long gone And mud lies where those days once shone And now there's just a space... Something to hold Something to feel Someone to love Someone to need As they wander lost along the way Asking... Where am I? Where am I? And oh - those rainbows are long gone And mud lies where those days once shone And now there's just a space... Something to hold Something to feel Someone to love Someone to need
