

Breathe

Crossbreed

My last, chance at sex was simple enough where I could breathe Why can't, everything just be a certain way to let me see common sense, would tell me that the cancers eating right through me and failed tests, would tell me that my life's in jeopardy

Why can't I breathe one more time

My last, chance at life was spent trying to burn the world with you I guess,
it's easier with three people trying to kill me

Why can't I breathe one more time So I can breathe again just breathe fallen down so low it burns me it's time to change the scene faith is one way to relieve me you built this up so help me breathe

So I can breathe again why can't I breathe one more time

You're paralyzed I can't breathe

Why can't I breathe One more time