

Say That Again

Crowded House

Say that again i won't forget
The prase that turned in my head
And at the start it makes no sense
A long time left to understand
There on the shore the girl that i adore
She combs her hair on the sand

And i know you got fight the plan
You got to bend the rules
Yeah i know you got be your own man
You got to break the rules

Say that again, the alphabet
They dance a pihouette in my head
A chance remark become the spark
And maybe luck has come again
The hint of a smile
The accidental rhyme
That captured me the first time

I know you got to fight the plan
You got to bend the rules
I know you got to be your own man
You've got to break the rules
Midnite is standing in the shadows
This haunting is a reckless escape
Late nights of crawling on the sidewalk
Lets stay on in the mansion for the weekend
Lets go on making moments last a lifetime
We live on in the promises we keep

The hint of a smile
The accidental rhyme
That captured me the first time

I know you got to fight the plan
You got to bend the rules
I know you got to be your own man
You got to make your own rules

Lets go on making moments last a lifetime
We live on in the promises we keep
