

Virtual Empire

Crystal Ball

You're behind your computers and stuff
Tired eyes reflecting from the screen
You play the game and you are so tough
Tonight you start to catch
The Great Cyber Queen

She's right in the front
Just like in your dreams
You pray for her
Get down on your knees

You're out of your mind
You think she'll be yours
You're drifting through this
Virtual World

The colors you see
Adrift in the sea
Cyber refugee

You will live in a world of glamour
Stare onto your tracker ball
You'll be there, fantasy or nightmare
Magic place which is called
Virtual Empire

After the game when the magic has gone
So many days, and nights, that you spent
You'll open the doors, no reality comes
You're losing grip
Don't know what it means
