

Do You Really Know

Culture Beat

do you really know what I want do you really know what I need do you really know what it takes
do you really know what I want I can see, but I must be blind or I'm a fool and I'm wasting my, wasting my time and I know you've heard it all before but it's only you that I adore, I adore every moment you are here you drift away there's nothing I can do to make you stay and I just wanna know do you ever wonder

do you really know what I want you drive me crazy
do you really know what I need
there is no doubt
to make you love me
do you really know what I want
there is no doubt
do you understand, can you comprehend what must I do to finally get to you
do you really know what I want
you drive me crazy
make amends before it ends tried to leave, got no discipline here within I could give you what you're asking for all my fears won't let me give no more, give no more and I want so much to end all my despair I can't stop asking myself if you care and I just wanna know do you ever wonder

do you really know what I want
