

So Unusual

Curtis Mayfield

It seems so, so unusual
(So unusual)
After all that's been said and done
After crying out my heart for you
(So unusual)
You think my love would be gone

And it's so, so unusual
(So unusual)
I've said time after time and again
That I'd revenge myself and have you back
(So unusual)
For being little (Incomprehensible) my pride as a man

But there's something all lack that I (Incomprehensible)
There must be so much love in my heart that it would tear me apart
And I know although you couldn't see
To hurt you would only be to hurt me

And it's so, so unusual
(So unusual)
I never thought I'd have to prove this to myself
That after loving you and knowing you've been untrue
(So unusual)
I still could love nobody else

What kind of fool am I? It's so unusual
(So unusual)
I know I'm not the only guy and it's so unusual
I never thought that this could happen to me
(So unusual)
It's so unusual
