Eyes For Windows

Damien Jurado

I used to be the someone you would run to My eyes, they were the windows you would look through Now much to your surprise looking through these eyes You found beauty

I used to be the someone you would talk to My eyes, they were the windows you would look through Now much to your surprise looking through these eyes You saw beauty

Now much to your surprise looking through these eyes You found me