

The Falling Snow

Damien Jurado

When you fell, you fell so hard
Reaching for me in the falling snow
I would've stayed, you said I should go
How will you make it home? Oh, oh

Leaving your way, I heard you got lost
Losing your voice to the ground below
And I stayed awake until you were home
It was days and days and oh, oh

Come down from your mountain
You've been gone too long
If you will then you should say so
Don't leave me hanging on

Out from my open window
We could hear you breathing
Hold on but it does not hold on
Every mountain falls

Somebody said you would be gone
Somebody said you would be gone
Somebody said you would be gone
Somebody said you would be gone