

22 Steps

Damien Leith

If I were him,
I'd know your birthday.
Just what to get.
The colors you wear.
We'd borrow bikes.
We'd ride on Sundays.
You'll review.
The books I've sold

And I know takes 22 steps.
from the walk to your door.
Takes 22 steps.
'Cause I've tried it before.
And one day I'll knock.
But just not yet.

If I were him.
I'd buy the rain coat.
The orange one.
That he for paid.
We'd wait for rain.
We'd walk by his house.
In the front.
Not by the lane.

And I know takes 22 steps.
from the walk to your door.
Takes 22 steps.
'Cause I've tried it before.
And one day I'll knock.
But just not yet.

And I'm not so sure.
That you would not say.
Get out, don't step in.
I will never try again.
I'm not so sure.
That you would not say.
Get out, don't step in.
I will never try again.
I will never try again.

Takes 22 steps.
From the walk to your door.
Takes 22 steps.
'Cause I've tried it before.
And one day I'll knock.
And one day I'll knock.
Takes 22 steps.
From the walk to your door.
Takes 22 steps.
'Cause I've tried it before.
And one day I'll knock.
But just not yet.

If I were him,
I'd know your birthday wish.
