

Better Change

Dan Fogelberg

I can see you in the distance
And you're heading for a fall
Sinking deeper by the minute
You're about to lose it all

You better change before the sun goes down
You better leave before you are the last in town
You better raise your fortresses or tear them down
Tear them down...tear them down

Well there's an angel on your shoulders
And a devil at your feet
And that door you see before you
Could be poison tasting sweet

You better change before the sun goes down
You better leave before you are the last in town
You better raise your fortresses or tear them down
Tear them down...tear them down

I can see you in the distance
And you're heading for a fall
Sinking deeper by the minute
You're about to lose it all

You better change before the sun goes down
You better leave before you are the last in town
You better raise your fortresses or tear them down
Tear them down...tear them down

You gotta tear them down...tear them down
You better tear them down...tear them down
