

Shark Dad

Dance Gavin Dance

It's like it never even happened
I never got to know this side of you
Frozen all connections
Now I can't find the person that was you
Oh no, I can't remember
The leaves were bound to change

I loved you in the summer
The leaves were bound to change

Why can't I seem to find my mind?
The time is almost up
It's wide, I'm fried, and died inside, it's deep and broken up

Host of the feelings, left, isn't there
Ran outside to waste his cares
If had done faster, then I'm spared, to sleep instead of suck
Maybe it's time to quit the game, it wasn't me the world is drunk

I'm a piston on a mission, pumping out my guts
She said I was a something like a filler in her molar, a hibernating Siamese twin on her shoulder

I lose my shit enough, I bite a bit off more than I can chew
You collected fashion tips, and now I wear a cage.
Stuck in a batters grip
Faking a limp, happy to cry, waiting for gifts, biding my time
I injected apathy, attempt to disengage
Avoiding those parroting...
They wont decide a, they wont decide a, they wont decide a, they won't decid e a thing

When I saw your there
Looking like a shadow
Of what you were
I could see my sorrow

Shining in the moment
When you turn around, turn around, turn around, turn around my world
Shining in the moment, hit me with the cold
I'm alone I'm alone I'm without you girl

Snow falling, downpour
Snow falling, downpour

I'm so sick in the brain, I don't even practice keepin in touch. Throw my th oughts in the drain, the clutch of abraxas stone, torn deep through the rug.
Watch my drippin bone erupt, as I below the message, compete with the flood
, when the hot fog rolls on a match and sparks it up, ribbon lip quiver, God callin when I've had enough.

I'm lost

Why can't I seem to find my mind?
The time is almost up
It's wide, I'm fried, and died inside, it's deep and broken up

If had done faster, then I'm spared, to sleep instead of suck
Maybe it's time to quit the game, it wasn't me the world is drunk