

Negative Fashion

Daniel Powter

A teenage dream is on the scene
The camera blows your mind
Drop the weight for goodness sake
And make the recover just on time

And leave your excess baggage on the carousel
You hope to stay here long enough for anyone to tell
A little bit crazy but you get back
And no one seems to care what's on your mind

You don't know your right from wrong
But you know you're halfway gone in a negative fashion
So much more to be

In every star there is a sun
And baby you know you're the one in a negative fashion
So much more to see

You don't have to answer to anyone
All that's left of you is what you've become

'Cause after all the bullshit you've been through
You don't need all the lights to shine for you

You don't know your right from wrong
But you know you're halfway gone in a negative fashion
So much more to be

In every star there is a sun
Baby you know you're the one in a negative fashion
So much more to see

Yeah, you don't have to answer to anyone
All you need is what you have been for
And all that's left is just behind the ...
