

Bedroom

Daphne Loves Derby

Show me something good that's still worth fighting for
I'm not quite sure how you survive the storms inside of your soul

And ever since the start of this I turn to you
When I need something more than this empty road that I follow

So can I just hold on to you tonight?
Can I just hold on to you and make this right?
I take a part what is left and leave it
I've come to see that I'll never make it
On my own

I can't imagine all the things that haunt head when you lay in bed
And you try to find a reason to stay here
Ever since the start of this I never knew the right thing to say to you
The right way to help you through

So can I just hold on to you tonight?
Can I just hold on to you and make this right?
I take a part what is left and leave it
I've come to see that I'll never make it
On my own

Hey, I know it's hard for you to believe
But if you leave I'll lose everything I really need
Everything that helps me breathe
Hey, I know you're barely hanging on
But even with your weathered heart
I know you'll walk into the storm ahead of me

So can I just hold on to you tonight?
Can I just hold on to you and make this right?
So can I just hold on to you tonight?
Can I just hold on to you and make this right?
I take a part what is left and leave it
I've come to see that I'll never make it
On my own

On my own