Which way is the right path, as I stand upon This chaotic crossroad of hate... How many ways are there to roam On this dark and damned road of fate...

There are many ways my son, to find where the souls of demons remain...
But it takes only one second
Of despair and of doubt until at last, your soul they will gain...

Inherit these lands, these things, these dreams that are yours, forever to adore for there is no life, in the dephts of chaos, my son for you to explore.
