

Twenty Something

Darius Rucker

Twenty something, buying coffee you can't afford
Making love is keeping score
You're sleeping on a couch
Cause you got nothing, yeah but you don't give a damn
It's your world and they're all just living in it
Twenty something for a minute

Thirty something
You don't wait to call her back
They called you when you left
Those hangovers just hang on a little longer
Home ain't your hometown
Just cause you got twenty bucks don't mean you spend it
Thirty something for a minute

It's credit cards and college bars
Bigger houses, faster cars
Just trying to be somebody, but you end up somebody else
Friday nights out with your friends
Til a second chance's a second wind
Just one more keg then you tell yourself

Forty something
Is the new twenty five
You think time is on your side
But in a flash
Fifty something
And your daddy's in the mirror
Say you're young, but your running out of where you're spending
Sixty something in a minute

It's credit cards and college bars
Bigger houses, faster cars
Just trying to be somebody, but you end up somebody else
Friday nights out whiskey friends
Til a second chance's a second wind
Just one more keg then you tell yourself

Eighty something
Is just a number on a page
And all you know is that you don't know nothing
You still feel twenty something

Ah, you're twenty something
Twenty something
Twenty something
