

All The Unfullfilled

Dark Age

I have become carving, resisting my reliance
And still I am falling, escaping the asylum

Oh, I wish that some day
I will stand up in silence and peace, without affecting my lifestyle

"I feel so isolated and disconnected from the happy"

It's all that I want, It's all that I need

All you unfullfilled, you've been living illusions
To all you unfullfilled, where are your solutions?

All my life affected to knowing and sensing without the triumph of owning yourself

I feel proceeded, there's got to be more than this I feel so lost, when there's no one who can teach me the value of life

To all you unfullfilled,
I came here to say but nothing
To all the unfullfilled,
I came here to show but nothing
