

Saddest Song

Dark New Day

You are the product of a wicked world
You always seem to be playing the victim
You are the luckiest I've ever met
With all your self-destructive systems

Why do you get up to only fall so low?
I wear this heartbreak so everyone will know

You are a tragedy
An unfinished song for me
You are the saddest song ever written
You're unforgiven

So now you're beating on a horse's ghost
I see the relocation hasn't changed things
I see you're lying on the burning floor
With all your demons and the hell that they bring

Now you can't get up, you've fallen far below
I wear this heartbreak so everyone will know

You are a tragedy
An unfinished song for me
You are the saddest song ever written
You're unforgiven

I guess it's no surprise
I always tried to be like you
And it's been my demise
But now I've turned to face the truth
Truth

You are a tragedy
An unfinished song for me
You are the saddest song ever written
You're unforgiven
That's not worth living
You're unforgiven
You're unforgiven
