

Storm

Dark New Day

I sit and stare at a stone
That stone reminds me of every day behind me I can't rely on the sun cause even if I'm shining the sun comes out to blind me

Sing it one more time
one more time, so loud that the world can hear you
and help you out
Sing it one more time
so Heaven and the angels will only hear you,
at least for awhile

The wind is blowing in the door
The smell of rain fills the shadows that embrace me Like a voice from before Before the flood started rising up to chase me

Sing it one more time
one more time, so loud that the world can hear you
and help you out
Sing it one more time
so Heaven and the angels will only hear you,
at least for awhile

Sing it one more time
sing it one more time for love Hey, let him play, it's all for today
Time may make this a moment Releasing the captured, it is only a matter of time

Sing it one more time
sing it one more time for love

(Sing it)Sing it one more time
one more time, so loud that the world can hear you
and help you out
(Sing it)Sing it one more time
so Heaven and the angels will only hear you,
at least for awhile

(Sing it)Sing it one more time
one more time, so loud that the world can hear you
and help you out
(Sing it)Sing it one more time
so Heaven and the angels will only hear you,
at least for awhile