

Like lust, my shelter failed me
No power to subside
My instincts never broken
This downfall so close at hand

Well the thing that scares me most
Is the fear I see in others
And the thing that frightens me to the core
Is when I see that fear in you

Like shields against the action
No enemy to subdue
We barricade forever
The weak minds inside us all

Well the thing that scares me the most
Is the fear I see in others
And the thing that really frightens me to the core
Is when I see that fear in you

To break the rules and barriers
When you're scared enough
Before the end is here
Are you scared enough

Are you scared enough
Are you scared enough

Well the thing that scares me the most
Is the fear I see in others
That look to send shivers down my spine
Will haunt me to the end of living days and nights
And the thing that matters to me most
When I sense this fear in you
