

It's Not A Very Pleasant Day Today

Dave Dudley

Rain that hits the window on the outside hides the teardrops fallin' on the inside
A heart that has a sadder beat cause someone went away
It's not a very pleasant day today
Cloudy skies that make the moon so gloomy all alone it makes the room more roomy
The echo of your footsteps that seems to plainly say
It's not a very pleasant day today
Without the sun it makes my world seem chilly
Well it may be me and I guess that's kind of silly
It's over now and my mind somehow should make you go away
It's not a very pleasant day today
The wind that blows just seems to tell the story
It seems to say I'm wrong and now I'm sorry
You're all I have the weather's bad and it looks like it's here to stay
It's not a very pleasant day today it's not a very pleasant day today
