Spring is rolling in I smell the sunlight on your skin Want to get on outside let our hair back into the wind? I've been tired of hanging 'round, tired of all the news of dec ay

Getting tired of this town, and running out of reasons to stay

Just promise you'll stay mine
Just promise it'll all work out fine

The air is so cold this time of year it's cold like a killer's sin

And the lonely old forced hot air dries out your skin And it get's me so down when the loneliness spreads to your eye s

Don't tell me it's fine, I know it's a lie

Why don't we turn it up, and the radio can sing us home The snow is melting faster now that sun's making me feel stoned Turn it up, c'mon baby sing along Let's loose these winter blues and we'll stumble home
