Goodbye Mr. Ed

David Bowie

The ghost of Manhattoes Shrieking as they fall from AT&T Someone sees it all

Goodbye Mr. Ed, Andy's skull enshrined In a shopping mall near Queens Someone sees it all

Icarus takes his pratfall Bruegel on his head Goodbye Mr. Ed

Four and twenty black kids Some of them are blind Someone sees it all

Tolerance of violence By the fellows with no heads Goodbye Mr. Ed

Some things are so big They make no sense Histories so small People are so dense Someone sees it all Goodbye Mr. Ed

Some things are so big They make no sense Histories so small People are so dense Someone sees it all Goodbye Mr. Ed

Never mind the Pistols They laid the Golem eggs Others came to hatch them

Outside the pale Someone sees it all Goodbye Mr. Ed