Width of a Circle

David Bowie

In the corner of the morning in the past I would sit and blame the master first and last All the roads were straight and narrow And the prayers were small and yellow And the rumour spread that I was aging fast Then I ran across a monster who was sleeping by a tree.

And I looked and frowned and the monster was me

Well, I said hello and I said hello And I asked "Why not?" and I replied "I don't know" So we asked a simple black bird, who was happy as can be

And he laughed insane and quipped "KAHLIL GIBRAN" So I cried for all the others till the day was nearly through For I realized that God's a young man too

So I said "So long" and I waved "Bye-bye" And I smashed my soul and traded my mind

Got laid by a young bordello I was vaguely half asleep For which my reputation swept back home in drag

And the moral of this magic spell Negotiates my hide When God did take my logic for a ride (Riding along)

He swallowed his pride and puckered his lips And showed me the leather belt round his hips My knees were shaking my cheeks aflame He said "You'll never go down to the Gods again" (Turn around,go back!)

He struck the ground a cavern appeared And I smelt the burning pit of fear We crashed a thousand yards below I said "Do it again, do it again" (Turn around,go back!)

His nebulous body swayed above His tongue swollen with devil's love The snake and I, a venom high I said "Do it again, do it again" (Turn around, go back!)

Breathe, breathe, breathe deeply

And I was seething, breathing deeply Spitting sentry, horned and tailed

Waiting for you
