What's going on?
I still see the frown in your face
It's so out of place
All you can remember Is how you felt the other day You let the small things in your way

But you know that will just keep you down Loosen your grip, and drop it on the ground

Love, love, love, love
it's all you need
it's everything
to keep it all together
Love, love, love, love,
it perseveres
it always steers
to keep you in the right direction

Left here undiscovered I want to share this gold With people of the world Abundantly filling Every single heart And here's the best part

You know that love never brings you down Let it all out, and shout it all around that

Love, love, love, love
it's all you need
it's everything
to keep it all together
Love, love, love, love,
it perseveres
it always steers
to keep you in the right direction

Let me tell you something here today Living life here on the rough terrain You can lose hope, you can get lost but you know you're not that far apart from

it's all you need
to keep it all together
Love, love, love, love
it perseveres
it always steers
