

Won't Even Start

David Choi

What happened after last summer
When we broke up in September
I haven't seen you feels like a long time
Sometimes it still hurts but I always get by

I still got a piece of you under my skin
Its always there no matter where I've been

So if I ever see you on the street
I'll pretend that I didn't see
And turn my face
No use in small talk anyways
Cause if I look into your eyes
Then I'll have to say goodbye
And that'll break my heart
So I won't even start
No I won't even start

I wish you love and I wish it true
That's the best I can do for you
Cause you'll probably find love in someone new
I have to let go yeah it's hard to do

So if I run into you with your arm by his side
Just know it'll cut me like a knife

So if I ever see you on the street
I'll pretend that I didn't see
And turn my face
No use in small talk anyways
Cause if I look into your eyes
Then I'll have to say goodbye
And that'll break my heart
So I won't even start
No I won't even start

I'll be OK
I'll be OK
O that's what I'll say

So if I ever see you on the street
I'll pretend that I didn't see
And turn my face
No use in small talk anyways
Cause if I look into your eyes
Then I'll have to say goodbye
And that'll break my heart
So I won't even start
Oh I won't even start
No I won't even start