

You Can Win

David Choi

You can win this fight
You don't have to listen
To anything I say
There's nothing I could do
You take my breath away
And all that I believe in
I'm slowly drowning here with you

I tell you that I'm here
And I tell you what I feel
But I feel you're so far
And I don't know where you are
You tell me what you think
You tell me that you're trying
I want to believe you are
I want to believe you are

And I won't say you're wrong

You can win this fight
You don't have to listen
To anything I say
There's nothing I could do
You take my breath away
And all that I believe in
I'm slowly drowning here with you

Everything I hide
Is held inside your chest
With every single heartbeat
My picture fades to gray
I belong to you
I made you that promise
It's all because of you
I only say the things I do

And I won't say you're wrong

You can win this fight
You don't have to listen
To anything I say
There's nothing I could do
You take my breath away
And all that I believe in
I'm slowly drowning here with you
You can win this fight
Take it so it's done
Again I'll put aside my pride
I can only do so much

You can win this fight
You don't have to listen
To anything I say
There's nothing I could do
You take my breath away
And all that I believe in
I'm slowly drowning here with you