

Declaration

David Cook

I'm taken just the way you are
Imperfect words inside the perfect song
I feel you closer than you are
But I've been waiting far too long, too long

It's my declaration to anyone who's listening
You're my inspiration as I stand alone against the world
'Cause you love and you bleed and you stole my soul to set me free
It's my declaration

Do you care what I believe 'cause I'm still breathing
Or that I wear your heart upon my sleeve?
Sometimes I think you never knew
The only truth I see is you, is you

It's my declaration to anyone who's listening
You're my inspiration as I stand alone against the world
'Cause you love and you bleed and you stole my soul to set me free
It's my declaration

Are there any words to say that I would ever mean enough?
When the light runs from the day will the darkness be too much?
Will I ever be enough?

It's my declaration to anyone who's listening
You're my inspiration as I stand alone against the world
'Cause you love and you bleed and you stole my soul to set me free
It's my declaration
So tell me you can hear these words tonight
It's my declaration
