

Don't You Cry

David Coverdale

If you're tired of holding on
And you feel you can't go on
When it's all too much to bear
Call my name

If the sun refuse to shine
And you're all used up from trying
When you can't hold back the tears
I'll be there

So don't you cry, so don't you cry
Wipe the tears from your eyes
Forget about goodbyes
Oh baby, don't you cry

If you feel your love grow cold
When it chills your heart and soul
If you need a hand to hold
Think of me

And don't you cry, don't cry
Wipe the tears from your eyes
Forget about goodbyes
Oh baby, don't you cry

You're the reason I love
You're my heaven above
You're the reason I try

So dry the tears in your eyes
You're the reason I'm here
The reason I'm living for

So, if you're tired of holding on
And feel you can't go on
When it's all too much to bear
I'll be there

So don't you cry, so don't you cry
Wipe the tears from your eyes
Forget about goodbyes
Oh baby, don't you cry
