

Move A Little Farther Along

David Houston

You've been followin' me with your painted blue eyes
Since I walked in this bar and sat down
Just because my sweet baby is not by my side
Don't mean that I'm slipping around

So move a little farther along find somebody who is too weak to be strong
Check faces down the line stop looking at mine move a little fa rther along

Just because I've been by here a few times and stopped
Don't mean my heart's breaking in two
Even though I played sad songs on that old jukebox
There's no reason to think I need you
So move a little farther along...
Move a little farther along
