David Sylvian

There is always sunshine Above the grey sky I will try to find it Yes, I will try My mind has been wandering I hardly noticed It's running on its own steam I let it go Oh here comes my childhood A penny for your secrets It's standing in the window Not out here where it belongs There's a fire in the forest It's taking down some trees When things are overwhelming I let them be I would like to see you It's lovely to see you Come and take me somewhere Come take me out There is always sunshine Far above the grey sky I know that I will find it Yes, I will try
