

Starvation

Dawn Golden

There comes a time of starvation
It is true
If you believe in elevation
It will happen to you
You've got to reorganize
The channels of your thought
And leave behind that what you sought
You've got to redefine yourself
If you wish to find
The crystal visions of an open mind
And it's easy, it's easy, it's oh so easy to do

You've got to be in love if you want to see
It's a gift to you, it was given to me
The only false impression
Is a doubting mind
That hesitation will keep you far behind
For each bad place is just a place you've missed
So don't recall those that you've kissed
And it's easy, it's easy, it's oh so easy to do

When you expand your conscious
You will be amazed
At the lasting beauty of you days
But you better come now
So you can fill your part
Leave everything, now's the time to start
But beware of a yellow man
Who will turn your castles into sand
And it's easy, it's easy, it's oh so easy to do
