Well, it's time to head out, gotta find my place to rest Before the sun goes down in the darkness of the west

If I rest my head, would I have to lay upon the stone? If I rest my head, would I lay to rest alone?

Well, it's time to head out, gotta find my place to rest Before the sun goes down in the darkness of the west

If I climb those stairs will I find my way back to home? If I climb those stairs would I find my way alone? Alone, alone

There must be something real There must be something more

I'm searching, searching
There must be something real
Searching, searching

If I rest my head, would I have to lay upon the stone?

If I rest my head, would I lay to rest alone?

If I climb those stairs, will I find my way back to home?

If I climb those stairs, would I find my way alone, alone?
