Ghosting

Daylight Dies

Saw you slipping by the way Abiding in denial Air that slows, with breath that weighs Forecasting known conclusions

As we've drifted from these shores I find there is no turning back The winds can only carry us so far Until they'll carry us no more