I Wait

Daylight Dies

Things in this world Seem so far away Once again i wonder Where i am

Somewhere someone's Speaking But i cannot hear

And once again it all Falls apart But still i wait here trying To find some remnant of myself

My days a dull aching Please tell me what I'm waiting for

All my days are fading into one All my days are fading All my days are fading into one All my days are fading away

Things in this world
Have never seems so gray
Once again i wonder
What i've become

Somewhere something's breaking This world's so dead When i cannot feel What's in my head

But still i wait here trying To find some remnant of myself

My days a dull aching Please tell me what I'm waiting for