Breathe It In

Daysend

Turning pages of hours I'm hoping to be there To show you I'm not alone Blood stains on the road that we have traveled Much clearer than you believe It's a crying shame that you're still here alone Breathe it in It's a colder life than it shines on you Breathe it in Well this is one world not meant for you Sometimes I feel so complicated and frustrated Sometimes it makes me die alone I'm alone It's a crying shame that you're still here alone Breathe it in It's a colder life than it shines on you Breathe it in Well this is one world not meant for you And I keep holding my shadow over you It's a crying shame A crying shame A crying shame Breathe it in It's colder than life it shines on you Breathe it in Well this is one world not meant for you
