Turning pages of hours I'm hoping to be there To show you I'm not alone Blood stains on the road that we have traveled Much clearer than you believe It's a crying shame that you're still here alone Breathe it in It's a colder life than it shines on you Breathe it in Well this is one world not meant for you Sometimes I feel so complicated and frustrated Sometimes it makes me die alone I'm alone It's a crying shame that you're still here alone Breathe it in It's a colder life than it shines on you Breathe it in Well this is one world not meant for you And I keep holding my shadow over you It's a crying shame A crying shame A crying shame Breathe it in It's colder than life it shines on you Breathe it in Well this is one world not meant for you