

I'm living it up but it's never enough you see I don't like this,
I don't need your non-sense, I won't embrace your violent race.
To settle the score I just had to be sure you see I'm deciding it's not providing or loving,
It won't replace the empty space.

Babe, would you come home if I need someone,
Babe, would you come home if I need someone?

The pushing of luck says to never give up you see I can't take this leaves me faceless,
I'm sorry. I won't embrace your violent race.
This isn't exactly a warm hearted family that puts that cash in
, I can't imagine, nothing.
It won't replace the empty space.

Babe, would you come home if I need someone,
Babe, would you come home if I need someone?
My hands up in the air, singing "would you come home if I need someone?"
I'm the liar, you need to hire.
I'm the liar you need.

I need it, need it don't you see it, see it oh my,
Just reach out, reach out to my hand tonight.
Well I want you too see, the better man that I can be.

Babe, would you come home if I need someone,
Babe, would you come home if I need someone?
My hands up in the air, singing "would you come home if I need someone?"
I'm the liar, you need to hire.
I'm the liar you need.