De/Vision

You lead me through the harshest pain Though I injure you And you forgive me that I'm so mean It's not hard for you To be gentle with your heart and soul That is what I try expel me if you don't believe But don't start to cry

I beg you Lay down by my side To feel you You build up my pride And I swear I will bound That I care 'leave you safe and sound

There are times we disagree And we start to hate But in the end we harmonize We hang on to each blade Forget the things I say to you When I'm in a rage Don't listen to the row I make You'd better skip this page

I beg you...
