

She'll Understand

Deacon Blue

She is going away again
Back to the place where she came from
A big, black plane just crossed the sky
Casting a shadow where we used to lie

Everything she once said's ringing
But I'm past the point of trying to think

And I can't help wanting to go out
And drink, fight and take on the whole world
I know it doesn't make sense to you, how
Can it make things better for me, but I just know
She'll understand
She'll understand

She is starting to drift away
Have I forgotten the things she said
She left the clothes she never wore
And I can't stand them any more

Every time the door blows open
I think you're back, but I'm just hoping

And I can't help wanting to go out
And drink, fight and take on the whole world
I know it doesn't make sense to you, how
Can it make things better for me, but I just know
She'll understand
She'll understand

Something about this
It just doesn't feel right
There's a way out
That I don't know

And I can't help wanting to go out
And drink, fight and take on the whole world
I know it doesn't make sense to you, how
Can it make things better for me, but I just know
She'll understand
She'll understand
