Like a falling star
Remember who you are
If life is but a dream
Somewhere in between
Time moves on so fast
We take off and we crash
Before the gates are closed
It all comes rushing past
Shot away

We'll all meet here again We can't remember when A glimmer in an eye That makes you wonder why It came and then it left It left no evidence It brushes up so close Then whithers like a rose Shot away So babe, let's make the most Remember all of those No matter where they are They'll never be that far With crashes on the wind Here we go again Watch the falling star And wonder who they are Shot Away
